MISS CARRIE PEABODY BLY OF SALEM, WHO SAYS SHE IS BEWITCHED.

Carrie Peabody Bly of Salem Says Spirits of Those Long Dead Control Her.

SALEM, Aug. 8.—The folks of Salem are flocking to see a young woman who declares that she is bewitched. Her real name is Carrie Peabody Bly but for reasons known only to herself she prefers to go by the simple name of "Carrie Peabody," and as Carrie Peabody she is known to nearly every inhabitant of Salem. She lives, part of the time, in an ancient house built more than a hundred years ago as an addition to the famous witch house at the corner of North and Essex streets. The greater portion of the day, however, Miss Bly spends in the witch house itself, either in the upper chamber or in the garret beneath the roof, amid the old beams and rafters musty with age and reeking with the influence of the old witches long deceased.

Here Miss Bly says she holds communion with their spirits, goes into trances and flies off into space and does numerous other weird things which have startled her townfolk. She is controlled, she says, by the spirit of Nathaniel Hawthorne, and the spirits of Betsy Williams and other noted personages hover about her.

Miss Bly is about 27 years of age. She was born in Salem and has lived here nearly all her life. It was only a little over a year ago, however, that she has felt herself controlled by spirits. Before this she was a light-hearted girl fond of amusements, and not very different from any other bright New England girl. She worked in one of the Salem dry goods stores, and for two years ran a millinery establishment in Cambridge on Massachusetts avenue. One year ago last May, however, she was taken ill and went into a trance. In vain the doctors tried to bring her back to consciousness, and she remained in a semi-comatose condition for nearly two weeks. As a last resort a spirit medium, a James F. Litchman from Marblehead, was called and he restored her to life.

Miss Bly, who was seen by a Post reporter today, is a slight young woman, dark complexioned and the possessor of lustrous brown eyes. She wears a shawl and a short bicycle skirt. She did not wish to be interviewed, but after some persuasion the reporter was admitted.

Miss Bly talks very fast, and at once began to tell her strange feelings and experiences. She told of the time when she went into a two weeks' trance. "My spirit seemed to be suspended above my body," she said. "I could not talk. A light, a tiny, bright blue flame, seemed to be in the region of my heart. Mr. Litchman breathed into my mouth just as the flame was about to go out, and then I opened my eyes."

Miss Bly told of Nathaniel Hawthorne and his controlling spirit. "One day," she said, "I was in the old chamber. I felt myself going into a trance. I saw a magnificent gentleman in fine clothes in the doorway. I did not recognize him at first. He spoke, and then I knew it was Hawthorne."

"You must be patient, my child," he said, "you are to do great things. Perhaps you may not wish to do them all, but remember your duty and you will be rewarded. Do them as Hester Prynne wore the scarlet letter upon her bosom. He has since been with me every day."

The day before Charles H. Hoyt received his freedom from the insane asylum in which he had been placed in Connecticut, Miss Bly says she saw the spirit of his dead wife, and she gave him a message to send to her husband. "I had never heard of the name of Hoyt," said Miss Bly, "but the name came to me as distinctly as could be. She said that she would not be happy until the judges had released her husband, who, she said, was not insane."

Young Woman in Custody in Europe So Writes to Father in Paterson.

ALLEGED ANARCHISTS ARRESTED.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 8.—Continued surprise is expressed in Paterson at the arrest of Emma Quazzi, the pretty dark-eyed young silk weaver, on suspicion that she had knowledge of the plot to assassinate King Humbert and other crowned heads of Europe. Florino Quazzi, her father, remains positive that the innocence of his daughter will soon be proved.

The letter in which she tells of the meeting with Bresci, the rescuer, and the little masquerade at his sister at the house of Carlo Feders, in Paris, where she remained eight days, was the last news received by the father until informed of her arrest. The letter is dated May 22, and appears to be written at Paris. It reads as follows:

Dear Father—I write you this letter to give you some news about my health and voyage. We have arrived at Paris this afternoon. My health is very well. I am with a good family, the head of which is a Piedmont Italian and the wife a Parisienne. I am not at a hotel but in a private family. I do as I like; breakfast with the family and sup at a restaurant near by. Now let me explain how I came to make such a nice arrangement. There were two other young men on the ship. One came up to ask if I did not come from Paterson. He said he had met me somewhere. He did not know him, but he has been very kind. They called him Gaetano Bresci. He is of Tuscany. When Bresci boarded the exterior Quazzi has commented to his friends on the sentence of farwell. The edict to all who ask for his daughter he cannot understand, and he fears it has had a hidden meaning. Emma Quazzi was a member of the Socialist group that held meetings every fortnight in Proletariat Hall, on Straight street, Paterson. She had positive opinions on the social problem.

Governor Voorhees was in Paterson, N. J., today making an investigation in regard to the anarchist group there. It is supposed that the Governor is seeking information with the view of preparing a report for the benefit of the Italian government. The Governor said today that he did not believe that the plot to assassinate King Humbert was hatched in New Jersey. In his opinion the conspiracy had its origin in New York.

FRESH SUSPECTS ARRESTED.

Fifty-two Alleged Anarchists Placed Under Arrest in Rome.

ROME, Aug. 8.—Altogether fifty-two suspected Anarchists have been placed under arrest within the last forty-eight hours.

The brother and brother-in-law of Bresci, the assassin of King Humbert of Italy, have been detained by the police on the charge that they had foreknowledge of the murder of the king. The brother, says Bresci frequently practiced with a revolver.

The police believe that Bresci's flight was favored by accomplices. Among the persons arrested are Francesco Niccoli Risina and Salvatore Tisone Capot, from Paterson, N. J.

Giovanni Turno, who had apologized for the assassination of King Humbert, has been sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

WILL MOURN DEAD KING.

Italians Will Hold Memorial Services in Sacred Heart Church Today.

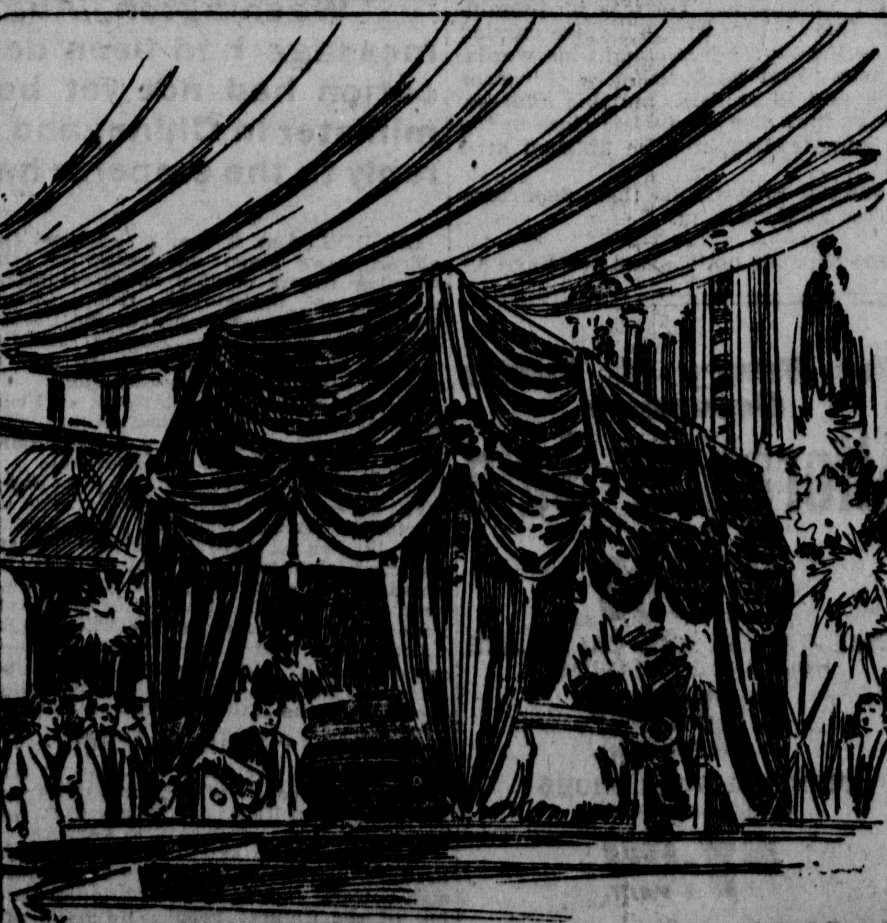

A most imposing ceremony in memory of the late King Humbert I. will be held at the Church of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, North square, this morning at 10 o'clock. The service will be held under the auspices of the different Catholic societies connected with the parish, and will take the form of a solemn high mass of requiem.

All day yesterday and until late last night workmen were busy decorating the interior and exterior of the church. The preparations were superintended by the Rev. Father Paul Novati, acting pastor of the parish during the absence of the Rev. F. Gambera, and Councilman A. A. Badaracco.

The front of the exterior is now a mass of mourning draperies. Over the stairs in the vestibule of the church hangs a magnificent portrait of King Humbert upon a background of mourning draperies, with the American and Italian flags intertwined.

The decorations in the auditorium are on a most elaborate scale. About the walls and galleries are hung mourning emblems, and the altar is draped in black. At the front, in the center of the church and raised about twenty feet from the floor, a magnificent catafalque has been erected constructed of the finest materials that could be procured.

The catafalque rests on four pillars.

KING HUMBERT'S CATAFALQUE IN THE CHURCH OF THE SACRED HEART WHERE MEMORIAL SERVICES WILL BE HELD THIS MORNING.

HERE'S WHAT'S WANTED

A Citizen of Boston Supplies the Information.

Over half the complaints of mankind originate with the kidneys. A slight touch of backache at first. Twinges and shooting pains in the loins follow. They must be checked; they lead to graver complications. The sufferer seeks relief. Plasters are tried, and liniments for the back.

So-called kidney cures which do not cure. The long-looked-for result seems unattainable.

If you suffer do you want relief? Follow the plan adopted by this Boston citizen.

Mr. J. H. Mathews, who resides at No. 4 Garland st., says: "Some years ago I had a bad fall which rendered my back lame and sore. I was not surprised at this, as my accident was a bad one, but as time went on my back did not appear to improve, and I wondered at it. I never seemed to get perfectly well. It hurt me to stoop or lift anything heavy. I suffered with dull headaches; colds, drafts and even dampness had immediate effect on my back. I was always looking for a remedy for my ills. At last I found it. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Bradbury's drug store on Washington street. They were highly recommended, and I began their use at once. Their action was like unto magic, and day by day the pain began to lessen in my back. I am glad to give the public the benefit of my experience. Doan's Kidney Pills are excellent medicine, and strike right at the root of kidney troubles." Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers, price 50 cents, mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Beside the pillars next to the altar rises a small cannon. Beneath the catafalque is a coffin covered with the Italian flag and the banner of the Italian societies, upon which rests a crown and scepter.

The musical programme of the service will consist of Mendelssohn's requiem and solo quartet will render G. Rossini's Quando Corpi. The quartet will be Mrs. H. Keenan, Miss Charles, Mrs. prano; John B. Donovan, tenor; Alcide de Andria, bass. S. N. Calamara will be the organist.

State and city officials, the principal members of the Catholic clergy in and about the city, and the consuls of the nations of Europe in this city have been invited to attend.

Among the invited guests who have signified their intention of being present are Governor Crane, Mayor Hart, Private Secretary Ernst, Congressman Fitzgerald, President Kelly of the Common Council, Superintendent Wheeler, Street Commissioner Dore, Bath Commissioner Rogers, City Assessor Kearney and Captain Hoffman of Division I.

BARED THEIR HEADS.

Populace Bow Before the Funeral Train Bearing King Humbert's Remains.

ROME, Aug. 8.—The funeral train bearing the remains of King Humbert left Monza at 4:30 p. m., accompanied by the Duke of Aosta, the Count of Turin and the Duke of Oporto. A large crowd witnessed its departure in silence.

At 4:45 the train reached Milan, where all the authorities and an immense throng had assembled at the railway station. The widowed Queen and Princess Maria Pia arrived here this evening. In accordance with the former's desire, there was reception at the depot. The royal party proceeded to the Quirinal, escorted by quirasiers, the spectators along the route baring their heads respectfully.

Telegrams from the various cities and towns through which the funeral train has passed say that the authorities and populace displayed signs of the deepest sorrow and of loyalty. The decoration of Rome is almost completed, and already the streets are extraordinary. Nine hundred municipalities have sent delegations to attend the funeral ceremonies. No fewer than 100,000 foreigners have arrived. Funeral wreaths are so numerous that it is impossible to find room for more on the ground floor of the Quirinal.

RUSIE REMARRIES HIS WIFE.

Former New York Baseball Pitcher For given by Divorced Spouse.

MUNCIE, Ind., Aug. 8.—Amos Rusie, the famous baseball pitcher, has won another victory. Not on the baseball field, though, but in Cupid's domain. He has married the wife who divorced him several months ago. The same determination Rusie used so successfully on the diamond to beat opposing nines he has practised on his reluctant ex-wife.

The story in a nutshell is that Rusie and his ex-wife are again one. The nuptial knot was tied secretly by a justice of the peace of this city a week ago.

The 3000 alimony Mrs. Rusie was granted by the court in her suit against her former husband, she has given up here. It will in the future be Amos's home, too. Both appear to be very happy. They have forgotten and forgiven.

According to the story he told at the City Hospital, he was walking on Brunswick st. when given today, in the sale of unmarked lots by the Frederickson estate, he was thrown and the ribs were broken by the fall.

CUBANS' PLANS. Omega Oil

Teachers Expect to Leave Cambridge One Week From Today.

THEY GO TO NEW YORK FIRST

Thence to Washington, Where the President Will Receive Them.

VISITED OLD QUINCY YESTERDAY

It has been definitely decided the Cuban teachers will visit Philadelphia before they return to their homes. The schedule, as now arranged, but which is still subject to alterations, provides for the departure from this city for New York at noon one week from today.

They will arrive at New York city, if all goes well, late in the following afternoon or in early evening. They will proceed to Washington in two special trains. The women will travel in one train, the men in another. One party will be under the direction of George M. Blakney, the other under the charge of Professor de Moreira.

The President will receive the teachers at the White House in the forenoon of the 18th. The remainder of the day will be passed in sightseeing. They will remain in Washington over night. Two trains will carry the party to Philadelphia in the early forenoon.

They will leave that city for New York late in the afternoon. The length of their stay in that city and Brooklyn has not been decided upon. It will probably be two or three days, however, before the teachers again embark upon the five transports, this time to remain aboard until they arrive at Havana.

Chairman Mann is now in Washington. He will go to Philadelphia and New York later.

Three car loads of the teachers spent nearly all of yesterday in Quincy, having gone there upon the special invitation of Mayor John O. Hall in behalf of the citizens of Quincy. Superintendent Frye accompanied the party.

A special train was taken to West Quincy. There the party made a thorough inspection of the granite quarries and works and of the first railroad ever built in this country.

The teachers then proceeded to Quincy Adams in their train.

The old Adams houses, once occupied, were there inspected.

The steel ship yards near Weymouth were also visited. A return to Quincy was then made. The entire party went to the Shelton Hotel, where a banquet was given in honor of the Cubans by the citizens of Quincy.

The return to Cambridge was made late, the party not arriving at Harvard square until nearly 11 o'clock last night.

Many others of the teachers attended in the evening the exercises of the summer school of physical training in Hamdenway Gymnasium.

These consisted of class exhibitions, of exercises with wooden and iron dumbbells, advanced fencing, Swedish free movements, parallel bar movements, etc.

MRS. SALLY BATCHELDER OF PEABODY, WHO YESTERDAY CELEBRATED HER 106TH BIRTHDAY.

PEABODY, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Sally Batchelder of this town celebrated her 106th birthday at her home at 110 Lowell street today. Many neighbors and friends called to see her, and she has spent, she says, one of the happiest days in many years.

If Mrs. Batchelder lives to be one year older she will have lived in three centuries, and she feels very confident that she will live to see the beginning of the next century.

Although she is confined to her bed almost all of the time, Mrs. Batchelder has retained full possession of her faculties, and can still converse intelligently on any subject.

She was born in Chichester, N. H., but has lived in Peabody with her son's family for the past 20 years. She is the mother of two daughters and two sons. She has six grandchildren and one great-grandchild in Samuel D. Batchelder of Concord, N. H.

One year ago Mrs. Batchelder received a fall, which broke her leg. She survived the injury to the surprise of all the doctors, and is now apparently as well as ever.

Sore Muscles

Golf is lots of fun the day you play, but the next day it's another story. Then you're stiff and sore, and you feel twice as old as you really are. If you'll take a good rub down with Omega Oil after you get home from the links, there won't be any soreness or stiffness at all the next day; not a bit. Your muscles and flesh will be in fine shape, and you can go out and play again, feeling fresher than ever. It isn't going to cost you much to buy a bottle of Omega Oil, and see for yourself if this isn't so.

Those who play baseball, cricket or lawn tennis, would do well to follow the above advice also.

mentary and advanced dancing, curtain ball, battle ball, basket ball, Indian clubs, esthetic movements, horizontal and vaulting bars, balance board, Swedish boom and balance swing.

Another exhibition will be given in the gymnasium this afternoon and a third tomorrow evening.

The Cuban teachers have been especially invited to attend the Friday evening exercises.

Disagreeable weather made it desirable that the regular study excursions be abandoned yesterday afternoon.

Late last evening Superintendent Frye received a telegram from C. C. Mann stating that he had made all necessary train arrangements for the trip to Washington.

FOR STEALING A DIAMOND.

George Tenney, alias Tace, was taken into custody yesterday by inspectors Morrissey and Wise of the bureau of criminal investigation, charged with the larceny of a diamond ring valued at $125 from Miss Clara L. Morse of the Pierce building, Copley square. The arrest was made on a warrant.

The charge is that Tenney, who was arrested on a somewhat similar charge about a dozen years ago, and who has done time, entered Miss Morse's room in the day time, finding it unlocked, and appropriated the property. It has not yet been recovered.
