Then the fly wheel, unequal to the terri-ble strain, burst, and a piece of the fly-ing and shapeless mass struck Meyer in the head and he fell dead on the spot.

Mr. Meyer was 59 years of age, and lived at 110 Reed streat. He was married and leaves a married son, George Meyer. For twenty years, and up to four years ago, he was engineer for the Boston Herald.

"THE CLUB IDEA."

President Eliot and Others Approve of Plans of Club Wemen.

The proposal of some of the members of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs to interest the more advanced of the visiting Cuban teachers in "the club idea" seems to be meeting with considerable favor among the club women and others of prominence, and also among the Cubans. It is bound by the so among the Cubans. It is hoped by the promoters of the idea that enough interest may be aroused to lead, on the return of the visitors to their island, to the organization of women's clubs throughout Cuba. It is thought that in this way much may be done to promote self-cul-ture and education, as well as spread President Eliot of Harvard favors the clan. To a Post reporter who called upon him at his house last evening he sald: "Of course the woman's club idea is not applicable to all Cuban women or to all parts of Cuba at present, but I think that by it a considerable amount of good might be accomplished.

Miss Pilar Liuy, the talented young woman who writes for the Post, said:
"I think that in the cities and in all places where the ladies live near enough together it would do much good to have women's clubs. Those of my friends with whom I have talked are much pleased with the idea of carrying home still another of the profitable ideas of Americans."

It was something entirely new for them. If the Cubans could have something of this kind in Havana it would be of great benefit to the people. It was so much interesting matter for them to see so many ladies employed there. One touching incident was the meeting with a lady whose brother had enlisted in the Cuban army against the Spaniards and who was killed. The Cubans that were present all extended their sympathy to her in such a great loss.

They went to the library, whose staircase was greatly admired as a wonderful thing never seen before by them.

They were sorry indeed they could not go in the inside of the reading rooms. They expect to be allowed to visit those reading rooms before they go sway.

A group of teachers went to visit the Bunker Hill monument, and they heartly sympathize with the brave dead who fought so nobly for the freedom of their country. The Cuban teachers hope, at some time to erect a monument in memory of their beloved dead who fell in the terrible war with Spain, and also to erect another one to the memory of the victims of the Maine.

Many of the teachers are greatly interested in the Harvard botanical garden. They had really forgotten for the time being that they were in Cambridge, as so many of the beautiful flowers and shrubbery reminded them of their dear Cuban home so far away.

The opening of the kindergarten class was something that the teachers enjoyed very much, as they have nothing of that kind in Cuba.

While it is manifestly dictated by regard for American interests, it coincides closely in almost all important respects with England's avowed policy. The reason is simple. A complete change in food makes a complete change in body. Therefore if you are ailing in anyway, the surest road back to health is to change your diet. Try the following breakfast for Bryan on Vice-Presidency.

Mr. Towne was followed by Mr. Bryan. who was introduced amid tremendous applause. He spoke as follows:

"I do not care to enter at the present time upon a discussion of the issues presented by the platform adopted at Kansas City. I can say however, that it is, in my judgment, the greatest platform adopted in recent years, if not in the history of the country. It is a greater platform than the Chicago platform, for it indorses the principles set forth in that platform and in addition thereto presents the party's position upon several new and vital questions.

"When the convention came to the selection of a candidate for Vice-President, there was a diversity of opinion, but the choice fell upon a distinguished Illinois Democrat, who once discharged, with great credit the duties of the office. In the campaign of '96, when plutocracy and democracy met face to face. Adlai E. Stevenson was an able and courageous defender of the cause of democracy.

"I know that some of our allies felt srieved that they were not given the second place upon the ticket, but I am sure that they cannot feel unkindly toward one who, Mke Mr. Stevenson, was loyal to the ticket nominated at Chicago, and who is able to defende the magnificent party creed set forth at Kansas City.

"In this campaign, issues are greater than men."

BRYAN'S CAMPAIGN PLANS.

In speaking of the coming campaign he said: "The Democrats made free silver the issue in 1896, and they will make anti-imperialism the issue in the coming cam paign. The Republicans may try to make other questions paramount, so as to keep imperialism and trusts in the background, but we will not allow them to do so.' "Will Mr. Bryan make such a campaign as he did four years ago?" "My own idea is that he should not. It is too great a task to demand of one man that he should make as many and such extensive trips as did Mr. Bryan four years ago. He will probably make several trips, covering important points." According to Senator Jones, Mr. Bryan to receive the committee next month that is to notify him of his nomination. Chicago, Indianapolis, Columbus, O., and New York are the cities whose claims are

No action beyond the discussion was taken, however, but attention was called to the fact that President Eliot, by saying that the Cubams are not addicted to execessive drinking and not used to drunkenness, has placed them on a sort of pedestal, and the members of the temple were in favor of waiting to see whether they bear out the stand taken by President Eliot.
